This months news letter is going to be short and late. However, the message is very important! This months dinner meeting will feature a very renown speaker. He is the author of many books both about the Church and its doctrine and books of a secular nature. He has been on the Know Your Religion series as a popular speaker as well as Education Week at BYU. He has been an editor for Deseret Book Company and is currently an editor in the Church History Department as the personal editor for Richard Turley, Jr., the Churches Assistant Historian and Manager of the Church History Department. He has served as a Bishop and recently as the Stake President of the South Cottonwood Stake. He has written a book on our first president, George Washington and will address that subject. We look forward to a large turn out and encourage you to bring a friend and potential member of our Chapter.

Oh, I almost forgot to tell you his name. Are you interested? Or will you come anyway.

Jay A. Parry is a writer and editor for the LDS Church History Department. He previously worked as an editor for the Ensign magazine and Deseret Book Company.

He has authored more than two dozen books in both the national and LDS markets. Some of his titles include The Real George Washington, Symbols and Shadows: Unlocking a Deeper Understanding of the Atonement, and Everyday Miracles. His latest book is "Back to First Principles": A Conversation with George Washington.

He has taught classes at BYU Education Week for more than a decade.

He and his wife, Vicki, are the parents of seven children and have nine grandchildren.

As a side note we want to inform you that our Past President Larry Stucki and his wife leave tomorrow the 30th for the MTC. They have been called on a 18 month mission to the Navaho Indian Reservation. They will head up the employment center. Our prayers go with them and we will miss them very much. Hope to see you Thursday, and remember the lady missing in the photograph of Brigham Young was Sarah his native American wife.
